

AUNTY WEY'S IMPOSSIBLE PIE

Contributed by Rosie

Rosemary Brown (Auntie Wey) is Dads sister. She cooked this for supper one night when we visited her in Batemans Bay, New South Wales.

Its one of those really quick and easy things to do if there are young children in the house who dont necessarily eat their vegetables!

Its also fun because you just combine the whole lot in one bowl and the pastry separates all by itself to the bottom.

We used to visit Auntie Wey during Christmas holidays on route back to Brisbane from Melbourne or Wattle Circle.

5 eggs

$\frac{3}{4}$ cup pastry mix (called 'biscuit mix' in North America)

$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon mustard

1 $\frac{1}{2}$ cups milk

1 cup chopped ham or bacon

1 cup grated cheese

1 large zucchini grated

1 carrot grated

1 small onion grated

Place all in a bowl and mix well. Bake in a moderate oven 30 –35 minutes.

